These designations have become highly regarded and recipients are recognized throughout the California banking industry for achieving exceptional financial performance. The Findley Reports offers directors and management specialized reports to determine individual bank performance. The Findley Reports is acknowledged for the quality of information contained in its monthly newsletter, "The Findley Reports Banking Newsletter and Directors' Compass." This timely publication identifies banking business issues and apprizes subscribers of regulatory matters, trends and opportunities for banks wanting to achieve "Premier Performance."

Achieve "Premier Performance" through The Findley Reports!

Newsletter

Since 1967 The Findley Reports has been the foundation of the Findley Companies and has been recognized within California as an authority and valued resource for providing accurate financial information on the banking industry. The Findley Reports provides the banking industry with performance benchmarking through its annual designations of "Super Premier Performing," "Premier Performing" and "Commendable Performing" classifications. These designations have become highly regarded and recipients are recognized throughout the California banking industry for achieving exceptional financial performance.

The Findley Reports publishes the highly recognized "The Findley Reports Newsletter," a monthly newsletter providing essential banking transactions and regulatory updates in an editorial format that is concise and understandable. The Findley Reports Newsletter includes a Professional Corner focusing on topics such as strategic and capital planning, technology, marketing, new product development, performance systems, compliance, regulation and reference many other issues that influence or impact the banking industry.

The Findley Reports Newsletter contains a Legal Brief that is written by Gary Steven Findley & Associates, the law firm arm of the Findley Companies, on topics such as regulatory issues, bank structures, board liability issues, compliance, securities and merger/acquisitions. With new corporate governance requirements, the Legal Brief contains critical and relevant information for directors and managements.

The Directors' Compass section of The Findley Reports Newsletter deals with ongoing topics that are of specific interest to directors of financial institutions in meeting fiduciary responsibilities. A major focus in the Directors' Compass section has been board leadership.

The Findley Reports Newsletter critiques and analyzes each merger/acquisition involving commercial banking institutions and newsworthy information on banks.

The Findley Reports Newsletter regularly presents discussion on the pros and cons of many influential topics such as: expansion of off-balance sheet transactions; dealing with regulatory enforcement actions; and, being a bride or groom in the new millennium, dealing with consolidation.

Formed by The Findley Companies and Young & Associates, Inc., our services span your entire operation spectrum. With over 60 years of community banking experience, Human Capital Banking can be your most trusted guide and vital resource to maximizing your bank's human capital and achieving exceptional performance throughout your organization.

Human Capital - The Key to Exceptional Performance

Banking is a people business. Your bank's people are your most important capital component. If your goal is to improve long-term performance and shareholder value, you must focus on the critical components of human capital. Banks need to be exceptional to thrive and achieve long-term success. Exceptional performance requires that your people have a clear understanding of the bank's goals and how their jobs and performance are linked to that success. Your bank can only be exceptional if your human capital knows what they are doing, are aligned with your vision and are enthusiastic partners in achieving your goals.

Human Capital Banking will help you unlock and maximize the true potential of your human capital, and your bank. We will help you align your people toward the bank's vision of success, connect your people's daily performance to the bank's strategy, and build a culture of empowerment.
